

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Introduction.

“ For all the temporal lands which men devout
By testament have given to the church
Would they strip from us ; being valued thus.”

—Henry V. Act i. Scene 1.

THE original MS., written for the most part in contracted Latin, and in small court-hand, is a quarto volume (8 in. by 11 in.) of twenty-seven leaves of paper, very securely stitched together in a parchment cover. On the outside wrapper which forms the recto cover is written in large old English letters, “Liber abbis de Combermere No. 15”; and on the back of the cover a capital L; both number and letter indicating that the MS. was only one of a number of MSS., which, with this exception, have been unfortunately lost or destroyed. A 17th century copy of this MS. is preserved among the Harleian Collection in the British Museum, Vol. 1,967, pp. 136-147; but as no other copies of records relating to Combermere Abbey are to be found in that volume, or, as far as is known, in any other volume of Cheshire MSS., it seems most likely that the Combermere records disappeared or perished before the 17th century.

This MS. is a transcript of original documents. It contains very full abstracts of forty-two leases and indenture deeds, and eight complete rentals relating to lands, dwellings, salt-houses, and tithes in Nantwich, belonging to the Abbot and Convent of Combermere, and covering a period of nearly one hundred years prior to the dissolution of the Abbey. The earliest rental, however, belongs to the end of the 14th century ; and the first two deeds to the end of the 13th century.

A memorandum on the first page states when, by whom, and by whose authority and direction the documents were transcribed, in these words :—

“Codex iste inceptus erat p̄ me Johannem massy sup̄riorem Anno Dñi millesimo quingentesimo vigesimo quarto ad instanciã et mandatũ Reũdi p̄ris in xp̄o xp̄oferi Whalley abbatis ac sacre theologie bacalaurii quocũ tempe Wiffm; Maisteron ballius feodi abbatis in Wico malbanc fuit.”

The transcript, thus ordered to be made, probably for use of the prior, who was usually the responsible person in a capitular body for the management of the property of an abbey, commences on page 3 of the MS. with the following heading, which fully describes the contents of the volume.

“Registerium Ōniũ et singularũ Vr̄arũ et tenemẽt ad monasteriũ de Cambirmere ptinentẽ in Wico malbano Jacenẽ et p̄ Indenturas ad terminũ Diuersis hominibus Dimissarũ. Vna cũ Rentalibus p̄ ballios iħm de Anno in Annũ facẽ vt inferius patebit intuentibus.”

Immediately below, on the same page, are three deeds dated respectively 1296, 1289, and 1453 ; and the transcriber has, as a rule, copied the same number of deeds on each succeeding page, but quite regardless of chronological sequence. This want of chronological arrangement no doubt misled Dr. Ormerod, who, quoting the British Museum copy of the MS. as his authority, made out a list of Abbots from 1443 to 1525, with some inaccuracies that have appeared uncorrected in the second edition of the History of Cheshire; but the table of deeds given below will bring order out of apparent confusion and rectify those mistakes.

It is to be noted, too, that between the deed dated 1296 and the series of deeds belonging to the 15th and 16th centuries, the earliest of which is dated 1443, there is a gap of no less than 147 years. No explanation of this break in the series is given; but, it is reasonable to suppose that new leases would be granted from time to time as the old ones expired during that long interim, and that the original indentures, and, perhaps, transcripts of them, would be preserved in the Abbey.

The transcribed deeds occupy sixteen pages in the original MS.; and, after two blank leaves, follow twenty-six pages of rentals. Another rental, dated 1529, is commenced two pages farther on, but is abruptly left unfinished; and, with a single entry on the opposite page, giving the price of salt on May 11th, 1528, the MS. ends.

These fragmental entries of 1528 and 1529, together with the last complete rental dated 1526, were not written by the said scribe, John Massy; but probably by his successor in the scriptorium of the Abbey: for priors and sub-priors were generally appointed for a term of years and not permanently. John Massy, the sub-prior of 1524, obtained promotion at the hands of his brethren; and, after the death of the Rev. Father Christopher Whalley, B.D., he became Abbot. He was Abbot when the great Ecclesiastical Survey was made in 1534; and he it was, who at last surrendered the Abbey into the hands of the King on July 27th, 1539.

John Massy then retired on an annual pension of £50, which was regularly paid him until the year 1563. In the following year he died, and was buried "in the north ile" of Chester Cathedral in accordance with his will, which was proved in Feb., 1564-5. (See Wills, Cheth. Soc. Publ., Vol. li., pp. 56-7.)

is found in marginal notes that give the names of some who put forth claims for the lands when the great disruption came. The principal scribe, however, was John Massy; and his writing, though very small, is the neatest and most legible of all.

Hugh Malbank, second baron of Wich Malbank, gave in 1133 a fourth part of the town of Nantwich, certain salt-houses there, and the rectorial rights of the church to the monks of Combermere. That property, constituting in after times the Abbot's Fee in Wich Malbank, lay chiefly on the north and east sides of the church. Frequent mention in the deeds of localities and street names in Nantwich, such as the Beast Market (the west end of Beam Street), *Ratonrowe*¹ (now Pepper Street), Lothburne (a watercourse that formerly ran from the churchyard to the river Weaver), Monk's Lane, Tinker's Crofts, Beam Street, and Hospital Street, clearly indicate the limits of the main portion of the Abbot's Fee; but, besides these lands, there were outlying properties in Church Lane, Pillory Street, Mill Street, and High Town, together with salt-houses near the Town Bridge, and in a locality once known as Baywardsholt, which cannot now be identified, though it appears to have been in the neighbourhood of Snow Hill.

For this Fee, manorial courts were regularly held; and an incidental allusion to the Abbot's Court occurs in the lease of lands to Richard Roope in 1466, the express words being "sicut assignatur et deliberatur."

In the early deeds of 1289 and 1296 no surname occurs. Surnames, it will be remembered, were not hereditary among the upper classes before the 12th century, and not until the 14th and 15th centuries among the lower classes. Thus, in the later deeds, are mentioned Margery de Audlem, Thomas le baxter, William de Blackhurst, John de

Brodfield, Peter de Castro, Richard de Chouall [Coole], David de Crouton, John de Egerton, John de Farlegh, David le glover, Richard de Godwynslegh, John de More, Benedict le shermon, John de Smallwode [near Sandbach], John de Stapeley, and Henry de Sutton.

In the same early deeds no money rent is specified. Probably actual services, or payments in kind, would be rendered; and it would be the duty of the bailiff to see the work done, or the produce duly delivered at one of the granges of the Abbey, of which there were several in the neighbourhood.

Another curious fact is that Robert le Monkesmon held property in Nantwich in 1296 (page 15). Here is a difficulty not easy of explanation. Was this Robert one of the brethren of the Abbey? Or, had he been so long a tenant under the Abbey that he was commonly known in Nantwich as the Monks' man? Contemporary with Robert le Monkesmon occurs in another record (quoted in Morris's Chester, p. 100, note) Thomas le Plumer, a monk of Combermere Abbey, who was engaged in doing plumbing work at Chester Castle, and in other castles in North Wales, between the years 1299 and 1303.

Most of the later deeds commence, as was customary in legal documents of ancient times, with a religious preamble. Even the heading of the MS. is prefixed by IHC MARIA; and it is interesting to note how C for conservator, rather than S for salvator, is used in the monogram; because during the Middle Ages Christ was regarded more as the preserver than the saviour of men, while the Blessed Virgin was revered as our lady of salvation.¹

¹ In three neighbouring churches the same monogram is found in ancient work. At Nantwich, on one of the 15th century misereres is IHC and M. At Acton, on the alabaster effigy of William Manwaring, dated 1399, is the legend IHC NAZARENIE R. (The Nazarene King, Jesus the preserver of men). The same motto is at Barthomley, on the effigy of Sir Robert Fulleshurst, who died in 13 Rich. II. (1389). Nantwich and Acton churches are dedicated to St. Mary. The Abbey of Combermere had a double dedication, St. Mary and St. Michael the archangel. The latter dedication was very common among Cistercian abbeys.

The usual formula of the preambles, which, unfortunately, are curtailed in the transcribed deeds, is "Omnibus Christi fidelibus et cetera"; but in deed No. 15, dated 1454, the words are "Universis sancte matris ecclesie filiis et cetera. Whether universis has here any special signification, or, whether it is simply used, like omnibus, in a comprehensive sense, is not very clear. By the same deed the Abbot lets to Thomas Bradford "unam parloriam"—a parlour—a word explained in Halliwell's Dictionary as "a common room in religious houses." Another property situated between this "parlour" and the church is thus described in the Rental dated 1469 (with which cf. Rental 1445)—

"De Roberto Sonky capellano p̄ tribus cotaḡ
pp̄ [prope] aulā in Cimitorio nup̄ in tenura
Wiffi Shermañ senioris iiiij^s."

Without pressing the phraseology of the deed and rental too far, it appears as if the words "parloriam" and "aulam" convey the idea of a common-hall and residences of priests in connection with the once collegiate church of Nantwich.

Another remarkable feature of the deeds is the varying length of the leases. During the abbacy of Roger it was customary to grant leases of 101 years; the practice of his successor was for 99 years; but Christopher Whalley, the last abbot but one, granted leases for much shorter terms.

It has been said "that the monastic houses, foreseeing the dissolution which threatened them, and for which there were very ominous precedents during the 15th century in the confiscation of alien priories, and the not infrequent suppression of individual religious houses on the plea of misconduct, began to grant long leases of forty years or more."¹ Although this may have been the practice of monasteries in some parts of England, yet it is noticeable that at Combermere, in the 16th century, there was a tendency rather to shorten than to lengthen the terms of leases.

The Abbot and Convent of a Monastery, being a corporate body, and continuing with each successive generation of monks, were able to give good security to their tenants; and the feudal custom of claiming a substantial fine or heriot on the death of each tenant, doubtless paid the Monastery well and induced the Abbot to grant long leases. The increase or decrease in the length of the terms of the leases was probably regulated not so much by the impending dissolution, as by the changing usages of the times, consequent on the general prosperity of the nation; and, as the 15th century was more prosperous in trade, and towns were wealthier than in any previous century, other landlords besides Abbots of Monasteries granted long leases to their tenants. It will be seen that at Combermere for many years previous to the dissolution of the Monastery, no property was leased for so long a term as 101 years; and that fact alone is sufficient to prove that the unfinished and undated deed, which John Massy transcribed last, should really precede in order of time the deed dated 1443; the abbot William, who granted to Roger Prayers land for a term of 101 years, being William Plymouth who occurs as abbot between the years 1411 and 1435. (See Table of Deeds postea.)

Not the least interesting of the deeds and rentals in the original MS. are those written in English. They contain some curious words and expressions. In the mention of street names, for example, the definite article is invariably prefixed; a usage that still obtains in the native folk-speech of the town. This peculiarity is shown in the original Latin, by the interpolation of the French article "le"; and hence the frequent occurrence in the translation of "the Beam Street," "the Hospital Street," &c.¹

Of curious orthography in place names are "Ospell street," "bersalt," "Lyllsyll," and "horepull," being, respectively, the contracted and phonetic forms of Hospital street, Baywardsholt, Lilleshall, and Warpoole. Of old English words are "curtilage," for court-yard or inclosure; "syche" and "cistern," for ditch or watercourse; "mese" and "mease," for pasture—though "messe" is always used for messuagium, or dwelling-house. Of old trade names are "sherman" and "fryser," for cloth-workers; and waller, for salt-maker. Of curious Christian names are Gryffyny, Hankyn, Janyn, and Peryn; and of surnames it may be noted that David ap Res in 1469 left a successor in 1485 who called himself William Preece.

The rentals, like the deeds, are transcribed in irregular order, and one of them is wrongly dated; but the mistake is the more easily accounted for as it occurs in a transcript and not in an original document. The heading of the rental, which I have dated circa 1485, reads thus in the MS.—

" Rentale Abbatidis de Cambirm̄e Renouat Anno Regis Ricardi tercii quarto."

But, as Richard III. was slain at Bosworth Field on August 22, 1485, in the third year of his reign, it is most likely that tertio (and not quarto) was written on the original rent-roll. Two other errors, due to accidental mistakes of the transcriber, are pointed out in notes to the deeds numbered 21 and 38.

Again, the rentals appear to have been revised surveys of the lands to which they relate. In those of 1445 and 1465 it is expressly stated that they were made new ["renouat" and "factus" are the words used] at Michaelmas; and, in the former of them, one property is described as once worth 8 shillings, but that then the rent was fixed at 3s. 6d.

Only two names of bailiffs occur—Robert Fulleshurst in 1445 and William Maisteron in 1524 and 1526—both of whom belonged to well-known local families. Their duties would be to collect rents from the tenantry, to have oversight of the property, and to render a full account to the Abbey every year. It would seem that the rental dated 1485 was a copy of one of the bailiffs' accounts; but the sum stated to have been paid to the Abbey does not agree with the correct addition of the several items. It is remarkable, and quite inexplicable, that all the total amounts when given are incorrect. (See Table II. postea.)

The historical value and importance of this MS. will be understood, when it is remembered that very few facts indeed have been preserved in history that give special characteristics either of the internal or external administration of Combermere Abbey, although in pre-Reformation times the Abbot and Convent must have exerted considerable influence over both spiritual and temporal concerns in south Cheshire for more than 400 years.

The MS. particularizes what property belonged to the monks in Nantwich; it records values ranging from a cottage with an annual rent of one penny to the highly-rented lands and salt-houses. It not only gives the names of the tenantry, but of other persons holding adjacent lands; and many of those names will be familiar to those who are acquainted with the history of Nantwich. It is the sole authority for the list of abbots from 1443 to within a few years of the suppression of the Abbey. It illustrates the changing customs of the Convent in regard to the terms of years for which leases were granted; and it contains other matters of local and general interest that have been briefly commented on in this introduction.

In conclusion, the members of the Record Society should know that the late Mr. Earwaker had the following translation made in April, 1889, by a competent scholar, whose name is unknown to me; and that I have carefully compared it with the original MS., which was kindly lent to me by Lord Combermere for that purpose. I have also tabulated the principal facts contained in these records; and the two tables will, I trust, be useful to all readers of this volume.

The total rents from Nantwich for the last year of the Abbey's existence, 1539, was £15 17s. 6d., Thomas Wright being then bailiff (History of Nantwich, p. 279).

THE BOOK OF THE
ABBOT OF COMBERMERE.

15 Henry viii. [1524].

THIS MANUSCRIPT [CODEX ISTE] WAS BEGUN BY ME, JOHN MASSY, SUB-PRIOR, IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FOUR, AT THE INSTANCE AND BIDDING OF THE REVEREND FATHER IN CHRIST CHRISTOPHER WHALLEY, ABBOT AND BACHELOR OF DIVINITY, AT WHICH TIME WILLIAM MAISTERSON WAS BAILIFF OF THE ABBOT'S FEE IN WICH MALBANK. [NANTWICH.]

ibc maria.

A Register of all and seberal the lands and tenements appertaining to the Monastery of Cambirmere, situated in Wich Malbanke, and let by indentures for a term to divers persons, together with the Rentals drawn up by the Bailiffs in the same place from year to year, as will be plain to all lookers below.

[Randle de Copynhale, 1296.]

1 This is the covenant made between brother ADAM, abbot of Combirmere, and the convent of the same place on the one part and Randle de Copynhale on the other part : namely, that the aforesaid abbot and convent have delivered and let to the aforesaid Randle one place of ground for a curtilage in the vill of Wich Malbanke, that one, to wit, which Adam, son of Luke, formerly held of the same in the same, and it lies in breadth between the curtilage which William Samin then held on the one side and the curtilage which Robert le Munkesmon then held on the other side, and in length between their garden and the Beme strete. To have and to hold until the end and term of twenty years. Given at the aforesaid monastery in the year of our Lord one thousand two hundred and ninety-six.

[William Fil Samin, 1289.]

2. This is the covenant made between Brother ADAM, lord abbot of Combermere, and the convent of the same place of the one part and William Fil Samin of the other part: namely, that the said abbot and convent have delivered to the said William all that land with its appurtenances which he held before from the same in the vill of Wich Malbanke in the Bemestrete, adjoining the land which aforetime was Hugh Wimonde's and adjoining the garden which Peter de Castro held in the same vill. To hold and to have from the feast of Easter in the year of grace one thousand two hundred and eighty-nine unto a term of forty years next following.

[Roger Prayers [1453].]

3. To all Christ's faithful people, &c. ROGER, abbot of the monastery of Combermere, and the convent of the same place greeting. Know ye that we have delivered and let to Roger Praers one void place of land with its appurtenances situated in Wich Malbanke, in the Bemestrete, in length between the High Street and a certain meadow of ours called the Munkes orchard, and in breadth between our land late in the holding of William Daa on the one side and the land of the abbot and convent of the monastery of St. Werburgh of Chester and the land of Thomas Brayn on the one side. To have and to hold from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a hundred and one years next following. Rendering therefore annually two shillings of silver at the four terms of the year. Given in our chapter-house in the year of our Lord one thousand four hundred and fifty-three.

[Robert Asheton [1454].]

4. To all Christ's faithful people, &c. ROGER, abbot, &c., greeting. Know ye that we have granted to Robert Asheton one void place of land with its appurtenances in Wich Malbanke, situated in Hospital Street (vico Hospitali): namely, in length between the High Street and the land sometime belonging to William Fouleshurst, and in breadth between the land of the aforesaid William de Fouleshurst and the land of William Cuttegore, lately in the holding of Adam de Wettнал. To have and to hold from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a hundred and one years next following. Rendering therefore annually three shillings of silver at the four terms of the year. Given in our chapter-house on the Sabbath day next after the feast of the Invention of the Holy Cross [3 May] in the year of our Lord one thousand four hundred and fifty-four.

John Daa [1453].

5. To all Christ's faithful people, &c. ROGER, abbot, &c., greeting. Know ye that we have granted to John Daa one void place of land with its appurtenances situated in Wich Malbanke, in the Bemestrete, and in length between the High Street and a certain meadow of ours called the Munkes orchard, and in breadth between our land late in the holding of William Flechere on the one side and our land late in the holding of Richard Walis on the other side. To have and to hold from the day of the making of these presents to the end of a term of a hundred and one years next following. Rendering therefore annually three shillings and sixpence at the four terms of the year. Given in the chapter-house of Combermere on the Tuesday next after the feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary [25 March] in the year of our Lord one thousand four hundred and fifty-three.

William Flecher [1443].

6. To all Christ's faithful people, &c. ROGER, abbot, &c., greeting. Know ye that we have granted to William Flecher one void place of land with its appurtenances in Wich Malbanke, situated in the Beme Street, in length between the High Street and a certain meadow of ours called the Munkes orchard, and in breadth between our land late in the holding of William Daa on the one side and our land late in the holding of John Daa on the other side. To have and to hold from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a term of a hundred and one years next following. Rendering therefore annually three shillings and fourpence of silver at the four terms of the year. Given in our chapter-house of Combermere on the Monday after the feast of St. Edward the King [18 March] in the year of our Lord one thousand four hundred and forty-three.

Robert Leeke [1461].

7. To all Christ's faithful people, &c. ROGER, abbot, &c. Know ye that we have granted and let to Robert Leeke one void place of land with buildings and all other its appurtenances situated in Wich Malbanke, in length between the High Street, called the Hospital Street (inter aliā stratā vocat le Hospille streete), and our land late in the holding of Adam Wettall, and in breadth between the land of Thomas Maisteron which he holds of us on the one side and the land of Thomas Creswall and the said Thomas Maisteron which they hold of us on the other side. To have and to hold from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a term of a hundred and one years next following. Margarett Sadeler [1519-20].

37. This indenture, made, &c., between CHRISTOPHER, abbot, &c., and Margaret Sadeler, of Wych Malbanke, formerly wife of Robert Sadeler, witnesseth that the aforesaid abbot and convent have granted and let to farm unto the aforesaid Margaret the following tithes: to wit, the tithes of sheaves [decimas garbarum] of Wych Malbanke; also the tithes of lambs and of wool of the parish of Wych Malbanke aforesaid; the tithes of flax and hemp [canopis] from divers streets in the Wych aforesaid, called thus: namely, the pyllery streete, Hospell streete, and Barkers strete; further, the tithes of sheaves of Badyngton, Allstaston, and Hacke. To have and to hold the aforesaid tithes to the aforesaid Margaret from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a term of thirty-one years next following. Rendering therefore annually to us, &c., for the tithes of sheaves of Wych Malbanke, forty shillings; for the tithes of lambs and of wool of the parish of the Wych aforesaid, three shillings and four pence; for the tithes of flax and hemp of the aforesaid streets, two shillings; for the tithes of Badyngton, Allstaston, and Hacke, twenty shillings of good and lawful money of England, to be paid at the feast of St. John the Baptist. Given in our monastery of Cumbirmere on the eleventh day of the month of February in the year of our Lord one thousand five hundred and nineteen [1519-20].

Henry Sparke and John Guddeare [1520].

38. This indenture, made between CHRISTOPHER, abbot, &c., and Henry Sparke and John Guddeare, witnesseth that the aforesaid abbot and convent have granted and let to farm unto the same Henry and John a wych-house of twelve leads free from toll [liberam de tolneto] situated in Wych Malbanke, in length between the high road leading to the land of the abbot of Lylleshull and a wych-house of twelve leads of Richard Churchehous, which he holds of [Sir] John Savage, Knight; and in breadth between a wych-house of twelve leads of Richard Walthall, which he holds of the prior of Wenlock¹ on the one side and a void place of land for six leads of the aforesaid abbot of Lylleshull on the other side. To have and to hold, &c., from the day of the making of these presents unto the end of a term of fifty-nine years next following. Rendering therefore annually to us, &c., for the space of seven years immediately following two shillings of lawful money. Then rendering to the same abbot and convent, &c., during the term of the remaining twenty² [sic] years thirteen shillings and four pence at the feasts of Pentecost and Michael the archangel. Given in our monastery aforesaid in the year of our Lord one thousand five hundred and twenty.

¹ Hugh Malbank, the Norman baron, gave a salt-house of eight leads in Nantwich, free from tolls and customs, to the then newly founded Priory at Wenlock. (Harl. MS. 2,115, f. 168; also in Add. MSS. Brit. Mus., 6,032, f. 94).

² The original runs: "Per terminum annorum reliquorum viginti tresdecim solidos et quatuor denarios." Possibly it means "For the term of the remaining 52, not 20, years thirteen shillings and fourpence."

39. To all Christ's faithful people to whom, &c. CHRISTOPHER, abbot of the monastery, &c. Know ye that we have granted and let to farm unto William Clayton, gentleman, and Richard Ormeshaae, clerk, all and all manner of tithes of sheaves in the parish of Acton lately in the holding of Robert Sadler. To have and to hold the aforesaid tithes of sheaves to the aforesaid William and Richard, &c., from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a term of thirty-one years next following. Rendering therefore annually to us, &c., sixty shillings at the feast of Saint John the Baptist. Further, we, the abbot and convent, do grant to the same William that it shall be lawful for him during the whole of his life to take and keep in his own hands twenty-six shillings and eight pence of the aforesaid parcel of sixty shillings. Given in our chapter-house on the fourth day of March in the twelfth year of the reign of King Henry the Eighth since the conquest of England [1521].

John Smythe, Sherman [1521].

40. This indenture, made between CHRISTOPHER, abbot of the monastery, &c., and John Smythe, of Wych Malbanke, sherman, witnesseth that the aforesaid abbot and convent have granted and let to farm unto the aforesaid John one messuage or burgage lying in the Wych aforesaid in length between a certain cistern [cisternam] called Lothburne on the east side and the land of the said abbot and convent lately in the holding of John Blythe on the west side, and in breadth between the King's highway called the Hospell Strete on the south side and the land of Richard Wybunbury, lately in the holding of Henry Hassall, on the north side. To have and to hold, &c., from the day of the making of these presents until the end of a term of fifty-nine years next following. Rendering therefore annually to us, &c., three shillings and four pence of silver at one term of the year, namely, at the feast of St. Martin in the winter: [11 Nov.]. Given in our chapter-house on the twelfth day of the month of December in the year of our Lord one thousand five hundred and twenty-one.

[Nicholas Harware, Clerk, 1525.]

41. This indenture made between CHRISTOPHER, abbot, &c., and Nicholas Harware, clerk, of the second part, witnesseth that the aforesaid, &c., have granted and let to farm unto the aforesaid Nicholas all that place of land situated in Wych Malbanke between the land of the said abbot in the holding of John Robynson on the east side and the common cistern [communem cisternam] called Lothburne on the west side, and the lane called Monkeslane on the south side and a meadow called Monkesorcharde, in the holding of Margaret, relict of Roger Maynwaring, on the north side. To have and to hold, &c., from the day of the making of these presents that place with the buildings now existing and hereafter to be built until the end of a term of seventy-one years next following. Rendering therefore annually to us, &c., five shillings of lawful money at four terms of the year. Given in our chapter-house in the year of our Lord one thousand five hundred and twenty-five on the feast of St. George the Martyr [23 April].

[Roger Praers.]

42. To all Christ's faithful people, &c. WILLIAM, abbot of the monastery, &c. Know ye that we have granted

Introduction.

THE following pages contain a transcript of the Subsidy Roll for Lancashire, made by Robert de Shireburn and John de Radcliffe, the chief Taxers and Collectors of the subsidy of a fifteenth in the County and a tenth in the Boroughs of the goods of all persons who were liable to be so taxed, granted to King Edward III. in his Parliament holden at Westminster on the morrow of the Nativity of our Lady in the 6th year of his reign, and in the year of our Lord 1332.

The money to be raised by this taxation was intended chiefly for the purpose of enabling the King to prosecute his attempt to bring Scotland under feudal subjection to England. In this attempt he was aided by Edward Balliol, who had been crowned King of Scotland at Scone on the 27th September, 1332, and had purported to subject the crown of Scotland to that of England.

The expedition, which was made by King Edward, met the Scots, when they invaded England, at Halidon near Berwick in the month of July, 1333; Douglas, the Regent of Scotland, was slain in the engagement which then took place, and David II., the young King of Scots, shortly afterwards fled to France. In October Balliol was received as king by a parliament held at Perth, and in the following year he ceded the whole of the south of Scotland to the English, thereby offending his supporters, and so making it necessary for him to seek safety in flight. He subsequently invaded Scotland, in company with Edward, but in the end their enterprise failed.

Cotton's Abridgment of the Records,¹ at page 13, gives the following account of the grant to the King of this subsidy:—

“Anno Sexto Edwardi Tertii.

“The Parliament holden at Westminster the morrow after the Nativity of our Lady, in the Sixth year of King E. 3.

“The Bishop of Winchester Chancellor of England declareth, That the Parliament was called touching French affairs, and the Kings expedition thither for repressing his Enemies.

“At this day were proclaimed the Articles contained in the last Parliament, 1. 2. 3.

“The parliament was adjourned until Thursday following; at what time considering the news from the North, they doubted the Scots arrival: Wherefore, the Bishops by themselves, the Lords by themselves, and the Knights by themselves, advised the King to stay his journey into Ireland, and to send thither a new supply of men and money; to stay within the Realm, and with an armed power to go towards the North, there to lie ready for the Scot.

“Towards which exploit, They granted to the King one Disme, and one Fifteen, to be levied of the Laity, so as the King will live of his own without grieving of his subjects with outrageous prizes, or such like. Whereupon the King revoked the new Commissions for rearing of Tallages; and promiseth from henceforth to remise the same according to the old rate.”

On the Patent Roll of 7 Edw. III., preserved in the Public Record Office there is a record of the exact instructions by which the taxers were to be guided in levying this tax. It is in Law or Norman French, and is here printed in extenso, with a translation.

TRANSLATION.

This is the form which the Assessors and Taxers of the Fifteenth granted to our Lord the King in his Parliament holden at Westminster on the morrow of the Nativity of our Lady in the sixth year of his Reign¹ by the Earls Barons Freemen and the Commons of all the Counties of the Realm also of the Tenth granted to our said Lord the King at that time in all the Cities Boroughs and ancient Demesnes of the King of the same Realm of all their goods which they had on the day of St. Michael in the year aforesaid must keep and the same Fifteenth and Tenth must assess tax collect and levy That is to say that the chief Taxers without delay cause to come before them out of every City Borough and other Vill² of the County within the Franchise and without some of the most loyal and best esteemed men of the same places to such number as the chief taxers may think sufficient to elect four or six out of each Vill or more if the business require it at their discretion by whom the said Taxation and whatever belongs thereto may be best made and accomplished And when they have elected such that then they cause them to swear upon the Holy Evangelists that is to say those of each Vill that those so to be sworn without shewing favour and under a grave penalty shall loyally and fully enquire what goods each of the same Villis had on the day of St. Michael aforesaid in the house or out of it wherever they were And all such goods wherever they be which shall have since come until now either by sale or in any other manner they do loyally tax according to their true value except those things hereafter in this form excepted And do them reduce into writing and fully put them into an indented roll and with all the haste they can deliver to the chief Taxers the one part thereof under their seals and retain in their own hands the other part under the seals of the chief Taxers and when the chief Taxers shall in this manner have received the indentures of those who have been sworn to tax in the Cities Boroughs and other Villis the same chief Taxers are loyally and carefully to examine the same indentures And if they find there is in them any fault that they forthwith correct it so that nothing be concealed either by favour or respect of person but all be taxed as reason demands And the King willeth that the chief Taxers should go from Hundred to Hundred and from Vill to Vill where their business shall be to make sure and enquire whether the sub Taxer. of the same Villis have fully taxed and presented the goods of everyone and if they find anything concealed that they forthwith take notice of it and make known to the Treasurer and to the Barons of the Exchequer the names of those who have so transgressed and the nature of their offence And let the Taxation of the goods of the sub Taxers of the Villis be made by the chief Taxers and for others by the men whom they shall choose to make it so that their goods be fully and loyally taxed in the same manner as those of the others Let the taxation of the goods of the chief Taxers and of their Clerks be reserved for the Treasurer and Barons of the Exchequer And let the chief Taxers as soon as they have received the presentments of the sub Taxers cause the Fifteenth and Tenth to be levied to the use of the King without delay and without any favour shewn to anyone in the form which is annexed to this Commission and let them make two rolls of the said Taxation agreeing one with the other in all points and let them retain one in their own hands whereby to levy the Taxation and the other let them have in the Exchequer on the morrow of the close of Pasch next coming on which day they will make their first payment And be it known that in this Taxation of the goods of the Commons of all the Counties the armour riding-horses jewels and robes of the Knights and Gentlemen and of their wives and also their vessels of gold silver and brass are to be excepted And in Cities and Boroughs one dress¹ for the man and another for his wife and one bed for them both one ring and a chain of gold or silver and a girle of silk for every day use and also a silver hanap² or a mazer to drink from let these be excepted And let not the goods of Lepers wherever they are governed by a Superior Leper be taxed or valued. And if the lepers be governed by their own master³ let their goods be taxed as others are And be it remembered that of the goods of the persons of the Counties outside the Cities Boroughs and the King's Demesnes which are not in the whole of the value of ten shillings nothing is to be demanded or levied nor of the goods of the persons of Cities Boroughs or the King's demesnes which are not above the value of six shillings in the whole is anything to be demanded or levied.

² The word Vill has been translated as Vill throughout, because it evidently has a wider meaning than is conveyed by the word town.

It appears from the above entry on the Patent Roll that the names of all lay persons of full age (except lepers residing in a lazar-house) who were possessed of goods in the towns to the value of six shillings, and in the counties to the value of ten shillings, beyond those articles specially excepted, would appear in the rolls prepared by the taxers. We therefore have, in effect, in the Subsidy Roll, a Directory of the Lancashire men of substance 560 years ago; and when we consider the scope and completeness of this record and the knowledge of the social status of the persons named in it which may, to some extent, be gathered from the amounts respectively paid by them upon a valuation of their goods and chattels, we find such information as will make ample amends for the fact^c that individuals only, and not either descents of families or events in local history; form the subject matter of this important document.

³ This probably means those lepers who were at large.

It must not, however, be forgotten that in the year 1332, Lancashire was much more densely populated than a casual perusal of the Subsidy Roll might lead us to suppose, and that a very large proportion of the people were not possessed of sufficient goods to bring them within the scope of this taxation.

Some idea of the small proportion of those who were taxable in 1332 may be gathered from the document printed in Appendix B, which is a list of the inhabitants of Ormskirk, Scarisbrick with Hurlton, Bickerstaffe, Burscough with Marton, Westhead with Lathom, and Skelmersdale, who had promised to contribute to the stipend of the priest of the altar of our Lady at Ormskirk, in the year 1366. The original of this document, a vellum roll of three membranes measuring from two and a half to three inches in width by four feet ten inches in length, is among the Scarisbrick muniments in the possession of the Count DE CASTÉJA. It has been lent by the Rev. EDWARD POWELL, of Lydiate, and has been transcribed by Mr. W. F. IRVINE and Mr. W. E. GREGSON for publication in this volume.

The Ormskirk List is thirty-four years later than the Subsidy Roll. During that time the "First and Great Pestilence" of 1349 and the "Second Great Pestilence" of 1361 had carried off a very large number of the people, so large that it has been estimated nearly half the inhabitants perished in these two plagues. If, after two such terrible visitations, the inhabitants about Ormskirk were so much more numerous than those named in the Subsidy Roll, we may fairly assume that in 1332 a very small proportion of the Lancashire people were taxed, and that the large majority of them were mere tillers of the soil.

The subject of the value of money in 1332 as compared with to-day is a question too large to enter upon here; but the figures before us suggest that the difference in the value of household goods is greater than is generally supposed. In looking at the amounts recorded in the roll as having been paid, however, it must be remembered that most articles of intrinsic value were excluded from taxation, and that houses in those days contained comparatively little furniture.

Our ancestors in the fourteenth century, unlike their descendants of to-day, preferred ostentation to luxury; they loved splendour, but were content to live in what to us would be discomfort. Their garments were often rich and magnificent in material and colour, not unfrequently sumptuously embroidered and sometimes even adorned with gold and precious stones; their long golden chains, their jewels, and their beautifully ornamented weapons and armour, doubtless made a brave show; and these and their vessels of silver and gold must have represented a very large part of their personal property.

But their houses contained, besides the great hall, only a few small, dark rooms, with doors and windows which admitted draughts, only partially excluded, in some cases, by curtains. The floor was strewn with rushes or straw in place of carpets; the long table of plain boards in the great hall was laid upon trestles and was removed when the meal was finished; and benches or seats of wood and stone, with here and there a wooden stool, took the place of chairs, though occasional cushions were reserved for persons of consideration. In the whole house there were but two or three beds, the servants sleeping for the most part on the floor of the great hall. The walls of the house, to a modern eye, would seem bare and cold, for in those early days tapestry was not in general use in the houses of the gentry, and, besides the oak panelling and great screen, which were, it is true, sometimes handsomely carved, the only decorative objects would be the antlers of the deer, weapons and implements of the chase, lighted up here and there by the bright colours and gilding of escutcheons of arms.

The agricultural labourer's hut, at the date of the Subsidy Roll, in point of personal comfort, would probably be comparable only to a modern cow-house, his whole worldly possessions, as a rule, being a plain table, one or two stools or a bench, a box-bed lay, with dried bracken, an ark or chest of oak, a very few indispensable household utensils of the simplest kind, the clothes he stood in, and his long sharp knife.

The curious spelling of the names of a few of the townships mentioned in the Subsidy Roll rendered their identity somewhat obscure until after some little investigation ; but all were ultimately identified, and the modern spelling has been inserted in italic type under each place name in the margin. For the purpose of comparison the names of the Lancashire townships in the Exchequer Lay Subsidy Roll of 1 Edw. III., A.D. 1327, are given in Appendix A. Parts of this Roll are so much faded that the greatest difficulty was experienced in making them out, and other parts are too decayed, so that the names of some places are wanting.

It will be observed that the names of some important parishes, such as Eccles, Ormskirk, Rochdale, Leigh, Cartmel, and Warrwick, do not appear in the Roll of the year 1332, but that the townships in such parishes are, for the most part, included in it. The absence of the names of these parishes is apparently accounted for by the fact that their churches, and also the land appertaining to them, upon which there would very probably be goods of not inconsiderable value, were the possessions of various abbeys and priories, and, therefore, such goods would not be included in a lay subsidy.

Although the chief taxers are not described as knights in the Subsidy Roll, there is little doubt that they are to be identified with two knights of considerable influence and importance in their day.

Sir Robert Shireburn, who was knighted on the 3rd March 19 Edward I. [1291], was M.P. for Lancashire in 9 Edward III. [1335], and Seneschal of Blackburnshire and Clitheroe. He married Alice, daughter and co-heiress of John Blackburn, of Wiswall, by Margaret Holland his wife, and was the father of Sir John Shireburn, who fought at Crecy under the banner of his kinsman, Thomas Lord Holland. Sir John Shireburn was M.P. for Lancashire in 1346, afterwards M.P. for the City of York, and died in 29 Edward III. [1355].¹

Sir John Radcliffe, of Ordsall, was the youngest son of Richard Radcliffe of the Tower, and married Joan, eldest daughter of Sir Robert Holland. He fought at Caen, Crecy, and Calais in 1347, being then a knight; sat as M.P. for Lancashire in 14 Edward III. [1340]; and died in 32 Edward III. [1358].²

The fifteenth, it will be seen, realised the sum of £287 13s. 8d., and the tenth £11 3s. 8d., making together a total sum for Lancashire of £298 17s. 4d., and the two chief taxers paid 20s. each.

The original vellum Subsidy Roll, which is now preserved in the Public Record Office (thequer Lay Subsidy 130, 6 Edward III.), consists of sixteen membranes with writing on both sides; and although slightly injured in some parts, it is written in a clear hand and is not difficult to read.

The scribe had a curious habit of sometimes writing his final e with a downward flourish, so as to make it resemble the sign ç, which is generally read as es. This occurs in such names as Kynge, Hogge, Bullinge, Martinscrofte, Derlinge, Balrigge, Eskrige, &c., and in these and the like cases the ordinary e has been used in printing the names.

He also wrote, as was common at the time, his c and t, and his n and u, so exactly alike that in some names it is impossible to say which is intended. For example, we have Bonker, Barñ, Grayne, Angrum, Bondessoule, Gynes, &c., which may be intended for Bowker, Barun, Grayve, Boudessoule, Gyves, &c.

Again, owing to the fact that the letter i is not always dotted, or rather stroked, there is occasional difficulty in deciding whether, when accompanied by the letter n, it should be read in or ni, and a similar difficulty is experienced where the letters i and m, or m and n, come together, especially as the scribe used five strokes instead of six for such a name as Emma, which he wrote Emna.

It will be observed that the sign ⁾ is used irregularly; Roger is written both as Rog⁾ and Rog[~]; frequently, also, the letter \tilde{g} is so flourished that it might pass for \tilde{g} , as in the township of Melling, which could not be intended to read Mellinger.

The reason for using the marks of abbreviation in many cases is not clear, but they have been scrupulously followed throughout the Roll, with the intention of reproducing the original as nearly as it is possible to do so in type, and brackets have in all cases been used where editorial additions are made.

In the Index of Places the modern spelling has been followed, a course which could not be adopted in the Index of Names owing to uncertainty as to the exact modern equivalent of some of the names in the Roll.

After correction, the printed sheets have, in every instance, been finally compared with the original Roll by Miss EMMA M. WALFORD, who also made the transcript, and to whom the Editor is indebted for the careful and accurate manner in which she has done her portion of the work. He also desires to record his indebtedness to Mr. SALISBURY, of the Public Record Office, for valuable assistance whenever difficulties occurred.

Heather Lea, Claughton, Cheshire.
